Call for Contributions (24, 2022, 2)

The international journal of urban anthropology Lidé města / Urban People invites authors to submit their contributions to the journal's annual English issue.

Extended deadline for submissions is March 15, 2022 (afterwards, however, the issue may be open for further submissions until filled).

Authors are welcome to send in articles on any topic corresponding to the general goals of the Lidé města / Urban People journal. Furthermore, we encourage contributors to forward us ethnographies of cities and towns, or any type of creative or experimental academic works (e.g., photo essays, dialogic formats, multi-modal submissions).

Lidé města / Urban People is an international peer-reviewed journal of sociocultural anthropology and related disciplines, with a specific focus on issues and topics related to urban anthropology. It is dedicated to publishing high-quality and innovative research.

The journal is published by the Faculty of Humanities, Charles University in Prague, in both a print version and online (in an open access format). It has an international Editorial Board, and is indexed in Czech biographical databases, and in the international scientometric and bibliographic databases EBSCO, ERIH, and CEEOL.

Date of publication: September 2022.
